

InstallatørGruppen strengthens its Swiss platform with the acquisition of BP Elektro AG

Roskilde, 18 February 2026 – InstallatørGruppen Switzerland has acquired BP Elektro AG, an electrical installation company based in Dietikon. The transaction marks InstallatørGruppen’s fourth acquisition in Switzerland since entering the Swiss market in 2025.

InstallatørGruppen opened its Zurich office to establish a scalable cross-national platform. The demand drivers in the Swiss market are comparable to those in the Danish market, in which InstallatørGruppen has operated since 2023. Switzerland represents an attractive growth market, driven by increasing technical complexity, regulatory requirements, and demand for energy efficient solutions.

During 2025, InstallatørGruppen Switzerland acquired a3 Haustech AG, Rohr Gebäudetechnik AG, and W. Rokitzky AG. With the acquisition of BP Elektro AG, the Group has now four portfolio companies with more than 200 employees and a total revenue of approximately DKK 600 million on a pro forma basis. This positions InstallatørGruppen among the top 10 installation service providers in Switzerland. InstallatørGruppen’s ambition is to grow the Swiss platform, through organic growth and continued M&A.

Niels Meidahl, CEO of InstallatørGruppen, says: “The acquisition of BP Elektro AG is our fourth acquisition in Switzerland and a natural continuation of our platform build-up. We see comparable demand drivers and project complexity as in Denmark, as well as continued interest in becoming a part of InstallatørGruppen from high-quality companies, and are looking forward to further expanding our presence in Switzerland in 2026.”

BP Elektro AG is the second electrical installation company to join InstallatørGruppen Switzerland, following the acquisition of a3 Haustech AG in October 2025. The company will continue to operate independently under its existing management, in line with InstallatørGruppen’s decentralized partnership model, applied across both Denmark and Switzerland.

Founded in 2020, BP Elektro AG employs approximately 65 people. The company provides electrical installation services with a focus on complex and technically demanding projects for professional customers, adding capabilities within building automation and renewable energy solutions to the Group, two structurally growing areas of the building services market.
